

Please Join Us for the
3rd Annual BIO-SENS
Industry-Academic Symposium

Opportunities for BioTech/NanoTech in Wyoming's Energy Economy

 University of Wyoming
Laramie, WY

Bringing together the nucleus of a new biotechnology workforce in Wyoming, Maine, New Hampshire, and Alabama

Welcoming

- Biotechnology and biomanufacturing professionals
- Academic researchers and educators
- Students interested in bioscience and engineering

 Tuesday
July 30, 2024
Laramie, WY

Featuring

- Student posters and presentations
- Panel discussions
- Networking opportunities

 Agenda
Coming Soon

Dr. Jeffrey Halpern
University of New Hampshire

Dr. Caleb Hill
University of Wyoming

Dr. Robert Pantazes
Auburn University

Dr. Eva Rose Balog
University of New England

Dr. Andrew Crawley
University of Maine

 Travel Awards
for Presenters
Available

<http://bit.ly/bio-sens-symposium>

Submit Abstracts and Travel Award Applications by May 31st Register by June 14th

Supported by the NSF EPSCoR project, Bio-Inspired On-demand
Strategies for Engineering Nanostructured Sensors (BIO-SENS),
Research Infrastructure Improvement NSF # OIA 2119237

